

Logical Reasoning Preparation Plan

Goal: Master Logical Reasoning by December End

Duration: April 15, 2025 - December 31, 2025

Total Months: 8.5 months

Monthly Breakdown & Topics

April (Half Month Focus: Basics & Foundation)

- Introduction to Logical Reasoning
- Types of reasoning: Deductive & Inductive
- Statements & Conclusions
- Basic practice questions

May (Basic to Intermediate Topics)

- Coding-Decoding
- Number & Letter Series
- Blood Relations
- Direction Sense
- Analogy
- Practice sets weekly

June

- Syllogisms
- Logical Venn Diagrams
- Calendar Problems
- Clock Problems
- Weekly Mock Tests

July

- Seating Arrangements (Linear, Circular)
- Puzzle-based Questions (Age, Floor-based)
- Practice Moderate-Level Questions
- Revision of April-June topics

August

- Input-Output based Problems
- Data Sufficiency
- Ranking & Order
- Inequalities
- Weekly Practice Tests

September

- Assertion & Reason
- Cause & Effect
- Course of Action
- Critical Reasoning
- Argument & Assumption
- Full-length Mock Test (1 per week)

October

- Mixed Practice Sets (All Topics)
- Daily Timed Practice (60 mins/day)
- Mini Mock Test every 3 days
- Focus on Accuracy & Speed

November

- High-Level Puzzle Practice
- Caselet-based LR
- Abstract Reasoning
- Complete Revision Round 1
- Weekly Full-Length Mocks

December

- Revision Round 2 (All Topics)
- Final Practice Sets
- Previous Year Logical Reasoning Questions
- Mock Tests (2 per week)

Daily Study Routine (Flexible Template)

- Monday-Friday:
 - 1 Hour Theory + 1 Hour Practice
- Saturday:
 - Practice Set + Revision (2 hrs)
- Sunday:
 - Mock Test + Analysis

Resources to Use

- RS Aggarwal Logical Reasoning Book
- MK Pandey Analytical Reasoning
- Previous Year Papers
- YouTube Channels (e.g., Study Smart, Adda247, Unacademy)
- Testbook & Gradeup Apps

Success Tips

- Practice consistently
- Time yourself for every test
- Analyze your weak topics monthly
- Don't skip revision sessions
- Stay motivated and track your progress weekly!

You Got This!

Stay focused till December, and Logical Reasoning will be your strength!